What is a Cookie?

A “cookie” is a small text file that a website saves on your computer or mobile device when you visit a website. Cookies are widely used by website owners in order to make their websites work, or to work more efficiently, as well as to provide reporting information.

Cookies set by Diplomacredits.com are called “first party cookies”. Cookies set by parties other than Diplomacredits.com are called “third party cookies”. Third party cookies frequently enable certain third-party features or functionality to be provided on or through websites or services such as advertising, analytics, and interactive content.

When Diplomacredits.com uses cookies, web beacons and similar technologies

Cookies: Diplomacredits.com uses cookies to collect information about your device, such as IP address, operating system and browser type. The types of cookies that we use are detailed below:

- Required. These cookies, also known as “Strictly Necessary” or “Essential”, help you to move around the Sites. For example, if you are required to sign into a Diplomacredits.com powered Site, the cookies identify you as being signed in and remember you so that you do not have to sign back in every time you move between the Sites.
- Functional. Diplomacredits.com uses these cookies so that the Sites recall the choices you make. For example, these cookies are capable of recognizing if you have been to one of the Sites before, so messages intended for first-time users are not displayed to you. Diplomacredits.com may also use functional cookies to tailor content or advertisements to match your preferred interest and to avoid showing you the same advertisements repeatedly.
- Advertising. These cookies are used to make advertising messages more relevant to you. They perform functions like preventing the same ad from continuously appearing, ensuring that ads are properly displayed for advertisers and in some cases selecting advertisements that are based on your interests.
- Analytical. These cookies help Diplomacredits.com identify the number of unique visitors to the Sites, whether or not those visitors are repeat visitors, and the source of Site traffic. For example, if there are 1,000 visits to a Site on a certain day, Diplomacredits.com can use cookies to discover how many of those visits were made via the same browser (same visitor). Diplomacredits.com may also use the cookie to discover whether you have visited Diplomacredits.com Sites more than once, and the source for each visit. Cookies help Diplomacredits.com to compile anonymous, aggregated statistics so that Diplomacredits.com can: better understand how people use the Sites; improve the structure of the Sites; and count the number of anonymous users of the Sites.

- Session cookies. These cookies allow us to link your actions during a particular browser session.
- Persistent cookies. These cookies allow us to recall your preferences or actions across multiple Sites.

In addition to the reasons for our use of cookies detailed above, Diplomacredits.com uses the information gathered from cookies (namely, IP addresses) to help diagnose problems with Diplomacredits.com servers and to administer our Sites.

Web Beacons. Diplomacredits.com uses web beacons to track your movements to, from and on the Sites to determine the effectiveness of content and advertising campaigns, particularly as they enable Diplomacredits.com to count the number of times that Diplomacredits.com advertisements and web-based email content are viewed.

Server logs. If you arrive at a Site by clicking on an advertisement that Diplomacredits.com has paid for (including a paid search engine result), or a link in an email sent from or on behalf of Diplomacredits.com, then Diplomacredits.com will capture information that tracks your visit from that link (e.g., referring URL, browser information). Diplomacredits.com may also capture information about your computer system, such as your browser type and operating system. Diplomacredits.com may also gather certain information automatically, such as Internet protocol (IP) addresses, Internet service provider (ISP), the files viewed on a Diplomacredits.com Site (e.g., HTML pages, graphics, etc.), operating system, date/time stamp, and/or clickstream data to analyze trends in the aggregate and administer the site.
